Chancellor of Exchequer Indicates to Commons No Action Yet Taken

Oratorical Battle Grows in the U.S.

Canadian Press and Associated Press
London, Nov. 28.—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, indicated in the House of Commons to-day the government's attitude toward the United States dollar's relation to the pound sterling was still one of watchful waiting.

When a questioner asked him from the floor what alteration of policy would be made in connection with the Exchange Equalization Fund as a consequence of the recent dollar fluctuation, the Chancellor replied:

"I am carefully watching the situation in all its aspects."

Questioned regarding the advisability of considering establishment of an empire currency in view of the United States dollar fluctuation, he said:

"No such proposal is at present under consideration."

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Two schools of monetary thought played a tug-of-war with the United States dollar at rival mass meetings yesterday evening.

On one side was Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., and now at Royal Oak, Mich., defending at the Hippodrome the Roosevelt money policies. On the other were the "modernized" sound money advocates and decriers of inflation.

Coincident with the two meetings a manifesto signed by thirty-seven Columbia University professors was made public. It urged an "unconditional" return to the gold standard by the United States. Meanwhile in a letter to Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, James P. Warburg, banker, suggested a "modernized" international gold standard.

The mass meeting at the Hippodrome attracted a crowd which police estimated at 20,000, only 8,000 of whom were able to obtain entry.

Father Coughlin, pointing his oratory at Wall Street, the "Tory Press," Alfred E. Smith, J. P. Morgan and all critics of the Roosevelt money policies, referred during his address (which was extemporaneous) to the "sound money" meeting at Carnegie Hall, saying:

Liberals Call For Vote In British Commons

Group Led By Sir Herbert Samuel Offers Amendment to Address in Reply to Speech From Throne

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 28.—The Liberals this afternoon swung into a definite challenge against the National Government in the Commons, the group under Sir Herbert Samuel's leadership which recently "crossed the floor" submitting an amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

This expresses regret the throne speech "indicates no effective policy on the part of Your Majesty's advisers to promote either restoration of world trade on which our prosperity must depend, or the development of the resources and equipment of the nation."

In the House yesterday evening the Liberals had voted with the government to turn back the amendment submitted by the Labor opposition.

It was particularly for development of the homeland that Sir Francis Acland, North Cornwall, pleaded as he moved the Liberal amendment. He charged the World Economic Conference had been fatally stricken by the tariff and quota declarations of Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain and Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, the British delegates.

Maryland Troops Fight Off Mob And Take Prisoners

Associated Press
Salisbury, Md., Nov. 28.—State troops sent by Governor Albert C. Ritchie to arrest nine suspects of the Princess Anne lynching to-day evacuated the Armory here and started back for Baltimore after a mob of more than 1,000 persons had stormed the building and been repulsed by use of tear gas bombs and bayonets.

They took with them four men they arrested in early morning forays into nearby Somerset County, where the lynching was carried out October 18.

The troops had been ordered to Salisbury when State Attorney John B. Robins of Somerset County had declined to prosecute the mob. The mob then numbered 400. The crowd was taken from their beds by the guardsmen.

Tea gas bombs were hurled by the state troopers when the crowd first advanced on the state armory here. The mob then numbered 400. The crowd gave way temporarily, then again advanced and the soldiers retired into the armory.

A general fire alarm was sounded and firemen came to the rescue of the 300 members of the militia.

COURT TEST ON LIQUOR FOR U.S.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Rev. Canon William S. Chase of Brooklyn, N.Y., has obtained a ruling from Justice F. Dickinson Letts of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, instructing Acting Secretary William Phillips of the State Department to show cause why he should not be restrained from proclaiming repeal of United States prohibition.

The hearing is set for December 4, the day before the thirty-sixth state is expected to ratify the repeal amendment.

BUY NO FRUIT FROM NIPPON

Chinese Stores in City Will Sell No Japanese Oranges, Owing to Boycott

The large loads of Japanese oranges which have been unloaded in Victoria during the last week, and which will continue to arrive for Christmas during the next month, will not find their way into the Chinese fruit shops.

The boycott of Japanese goods in China is functioning also on the Pacific Coast, and the windows of the white-owned fruit stores will be only "dummy" displays of the small crates of fruit which are in the crates are packed.

The five shipments which boats from the Orient will leave in Victoria will bring some 28,000 cases to the island; that is, counting an average of fifty oranges to a case, a total of some 1,400,000 single fruit for a population of about 100,000, or fourteen fruit apiece to every man, woman and child.

This Christmas, it will be seen that the trade which the Chinese fruit sellers are renouncing from patriotic motives is considerable.

ENDORSEMENT SAYS PREMIER

"We Are Now in Position to Get Down to Cases," Declares Pattullo

Congratulatory Wires Received From Eastern Canada on Liberal Success

"We are now in a position where we can get down to cases, and we are already doing that," said Premier Pattullo when newspapermen sought his comments to-day on the success of the Liberal candidates in Victoria and Vancouver Centre yesterday.

Premier Pattullo regarded the return of two Liberals for two seats in Victoria and two out of four in Vancouver, including Hon. John Hart as Minister of Finance here, and Hon. Gordon Sloan as Attorney-General in Vancouver Centre as an unequivocal endorsement of his government.

"Eastern Canada regards it in the same light," said Premier Pattullo. "I have already received wires which indicate this, and beyond question the endorsement of the Liberal government given yesterday will be helpful to the government in carrying out its policies."

"The endorsement was necessary in the light of conditions, and I am delighted with the confidence the people of the province have shown in this government."

"It is interesting to note," continued the Premier, "that the stress of the times has brought forth the most brilliant Legislature this province has ever had. The debating talent of the members elected is outstanding, and this will prove an outstanding consideration in times like those we are now facing."

LEADERS SEEN AT LAST RITES

Journalists Attend Lukin Johnston Funeral in London; Hon. H. H. Stevens There

By Thomas T. Champion
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 28.—Representatives of every side of newspaper life in Britain and the Dominions and of the Canadian Government were in the large congregation that thronged to St. Bride's Church in Fleet Street to-day for the memorial service for Major Lukin Johnston.

Mr. Johnston, European correspondent for the Southern News of Canada, charged as two of the three bandits who held up employees in premises of Trayling and Waters, West Hastings Street, last Thursday and escaped with $3,174 in jewelry and $100 in cash. They were remanded till December 5 for trial.

The return of Mr. Johnston was taken as an striking vindication of Premier Pattullo's action in choosing him for the important post of Minister of Finance before he had been elected, and of Mr. Hart's frankness in making an open statement of the condition of British Columbia's finances. It was also a tribute to Mr. Hart's record of service as a member of the previous Liberal administration and his personal popularity. A spontaneous cheer went up from the great crowd assembled outside the Victoria Daily Times office when, after a series of program items which he

Test Vote Saturday For French Cabinet

Premier Chautemps Expects Cabinet Will Be Upheld on First Division in Chamber of Deputies

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 28.—Camille Chautemps, new Premier of France, will stake the life of his cabinet on the hope of a vote of confidence Saturday in the Chamber of Deputies.

He will seek this vote on a ministerial programme and his plans for financial restoration of the country.

Political observers say they believe he will get the vote, but that the real test of his cabinet's life will start next Tuesday when the Chamber will begin its discussion of government's finance measures.

Finance Minister Bonnet told Bank of France officials yesterday the government could meet its debts only until December 15. In banking circles it was said France again was preparing to borrow $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 in London to meet December payrolls.

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 28.—Fears Rose Baginats, seventeen-year-old Toronto girl, had been abducted were expressed by her mother, Mrs. Mary Baginats, when she called on police to-day to aid in finding her daughter. Mrs. Baginats believed her daughter had been picked up by a motorist and driven from the city.

VALLEY DIVORCE CONTEST

New York, Nov. 28 (Associated Press)—Decision on a motion to restrain Rudy Valle from going outside the United States, presumably to Mexico, to sue for a divorce from Fay Webb, his estranged wife, was reserved to-day by Supreme Court Justice J. Edgar Watson-Vogel. Benjamin A. Hartstein, attorney for Mrs. Valle, said such a divorce might impair his client's rights under a separation agreement.

Selection As Member Of Cabinet Confirmed

THIRTY-FOUR LIBERALS
Now that the long campaign is over British Columbia has elected thirty-four Liberal members, seven C.C.F. members and six Independents for the forty-seven seats. Allowing for the election of a speaker of the Legislature, a government party will have a majority of twenty in the House when the next session is called.

As predicted the vote in Victoria was the heaviest on record. But for phenomenal entry list of twenty-three candidates it is reasonable to presume, from an analysis of the figures, that Victoria might have elected four solid Liberals. Yesterday 6,808 ballots were cast. In the 1928 election the number was 57,708.

In electing Mr. Johnson at the head of the poll Victoria electors paid a striking tribute to a popular young business man and the party he represents. Mr. Johnson, whose name for years has been familiar to British Columbians for his rugby and lacrosse activities, was making his first bid for public honors. Throughout the campaign he made a great impression as a sincere, earnest candidate eager to serve his party and his province. He was greatly touched when he learned last night that besides heading the poll yesterday he had been accorded three more votes than the high vote according to the leading candidates in the election when there were but twelve candidates in the field, and the battle was fought comparatively on a straight party line.

When progress returns last night indicated he would top the poll, Mr. Johnson left to share the tribute with Mrs. Johnson and a five-year-old son, Byron.

ARE GIVEN TWO

Washington, Nov. 28.—The Countess Grace de Benque, fifty-eight, yesterday was sentenced to prison for from two to four years for the theft of $5,000 from Miss Louise Maret, co-proprietor for a fashionable school for girls.

George A. Gormley, convicted as an accomplice of the woman, was given from four to eight years and a motion for a new trial was overruled by Justice Joseph W. Cox of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

They were convicted of taking the money from Miss Maret, after having her "arrested" by a "policeman" while she and Gormley were parked in an automobile on a lonely road.

The pseudo-policeman, identified during the trial as Charles A. May, testified Gormley had paid him $250 to pose as an officer.

At the trial it was developed Gormley had told Miss Maret the officer could be bribed for $15,000 and Miss Maret paid $5,000 before taking up the case with authorities.

V. Brown Held For Trial in Oklahoma

El Reno, Okla., Nov. 28.—Accused of the highway killing of his Canadian wife, Virgil Brown, forty-five-year-old Oklahoman, was ordered held for trial without bail at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing here yesterday.

The prosecution said it was likely he would be tried in March.

Mrs. Brown, the former Mrs. Marie Kinsley of Windsor, Ont., was found beaten to death on a highway near here last October 17.

Brown, who accompanied the woman from California just before she was killed, was arrested at Shawnee, Okla., recently. He said he and Mrs. Kinsley had been married secretly at Oklahoma City in 1932, but he denied any knowledge of her slaying.

VOICES OF MEN
GROWING LIGHTER

Boston, Nov. 28.—The deep-throated bass singer is becoming extinct, says Paul F. Spain, chairman of the voice committee of the Handel and Haydn Society, 118-year-old Boston singing organization.

"We have noted the scarcity of that type of voice, popularly known as the bull-bass, not alone in the field of singing but also in public and conversational speaking," he said.

Rome, Nov. 28.—The construction of the Italian cruisers, the Garibaldi and the Duca degli Abruzzi, each of 7,500 tons, has started, it was learned yesterday.

The keels were laid several weeks ago, but details were not announced then. The Garibaldi is being built at Spina and the Duca degli Abruzzi at Leghorn.

Two destroyers of a total tonnage of 1,250 also are being constructed.

Not having signed the London Treaty, Italy, like France, is free to construct as many cruisers as she wishes.

In addition to the Garibaldi and the Duca degli Abruzzi, Italy has under construction four light cruisers and one heavy cruiser, and is completing six light and six heavy cruisers. These, it is thought, will give Italy one of the most efficient navies in the world in proportion to size.

LABOR WATCHES
NRA CHANGES

Washington, Nov. 28.—Setbacks suffered by the American Federation of Labor since the NRA started have cut into the optimism of its leaders, and further losses may cause a change in tactics.

The worst defeat so far for an American Federation of Labor Union was hidden in outward signs of victory. When workers of most of the southwestern Pennsylvania "captive" coal mines voted overwhelmingly last week for the United Mine Workers to represent them in negotiations with employers, the miners of the United States Steel subsidiary, the H. C. Frick Coke Company, voted 3,094 to 3,000 against the U.M.W., which lost nine out of fourteen mines.

It was the Frick company that had been the focal point to the bitter summer coal strike for union recognition. So confident were U.M.W. leaders of victory that they left electorates to their fate.

A series of industrial elections under National Labor Board supervision took thousands of workers from the A. F. of L. and the U. M. W. to the U. M. W.

FUNGITAKEN TO STRATOSPHERE

By F. B. Colton, Associated Press Science Writer

Washington, Nov. 28.—First scientific results of Lieut.-Comdr. T. G. W. Settle's stratosphere flight last week were made public today, showing that life in the form of fungus spores or moulds can survive eleven miles above earth where human beings would die if unprotected.

Spores of seven kinds of fungi, or tiny plants, which Commander Settle and his companion, Major C. D. Doolittle, carried to the stratosphere on the outside of their balloon gondola, lived through temperatures far below zero, rarified air, low atmospheric pressure and increased ultra-violet light to which they are subjected on the trip, reports P. C. Meier, plant pathologist of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The spores germinated readily after their return.

It was the first time in the history of science that living spores had been sent to such a height above the earth and brought back for scientific analysis. They were carried inside and outside cotton balls tied to the gondola of the balloon.

The spores were those of common fungi that float about everywhere near the earth's surface. Meier sought to learn how high in the air they might travel and live. The tests show, he says, that these spores, too small to be seen without a microscope, are among the hardest forms of life in existence.

Many Paper Boxes
Destroyed By Fire

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 28.—Six alarms yesterday evening brought out most of the city's fire fighting apparatus to battle flames that broke out in the five-story brick and frame building of the Matthews Brothers, paper box manufacturers in the downtown business section.

A million Christmas boxes were destroyed and officials of the company roughly estimated their loss at $200,000 in machinery, equipment and boxes.

Secession Movement in Fukien Province Is Test For Nanking Government

By Ford Willms
Associated Press Foreign Staff

New York, Nov. 28.—After six months of comparative peace in China, a mysterious secessionist movement in Fukien province confronts the Nanking Nationalist Government anew with the spectre of civil war.

With a newly-formed, full-fledged Junta government behind it, the "suppressed" rebellion in the south has sprung from obscurity to sudden prominence.

Perpetually ready for a quick change from the civilian clothes he wears as head of the Nationalist Government, Chiang Kai-shek, in the uniform of generalissimo of the nationalist armies, is reported ready to grapple with the new menace this week.

Nanking's truce with the Japanese, signed at Tangku last May, was displeasing to many factions in China.

BUILD AIRBORNE

The first hint of trouble in Fukien came in a dispatch from Hongkong late in July, reporting Japanese charges that the 19th Route Army (which defended Shanghai against the Japanese and is the chief bulwark of the present Fukien Rebellion) was building five big airbases in Fukien province.

Meanwhile the Reds were causing trouble. They swept into Fukien and the province became the focus of foreign concern as a province of their nationalists against the Communist invaders became imperative.

The trouble subsided with government victories.

The present rebellion, apparently equally mysterious to the Cantonese and to the Nationalist Government, has torn the fabric of peace in south China, caused serious financial disturbances in Canton because of the uncertainty connected with it, and, the most serious menace Nanking has had to contend with since the Japanese retired beyond the horizon.

NOT TO BLAMEYouth Accepts Full Responsibility
For Destruction of Mail Boxes

Tony Rosin pleaded guilty to the Sanibel Police Court yesterday to a charge of destroying five mail boxes, and was fined $10 and $10 damages or one month's imprisonment.

Tony was arrested with his brother, Jean, in Victoria by Chief Rankin of Seaside and Detective F. Woodburn of Victoria, after investigation of vandalism at Royal Oak. In court yesterday Tony took all the blame, and said his brother had nothing to do with the matter, so the charge against Jean was withdrawn.

WOMAN SLAYS
MAN IN TEXAS

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 28.—Minus Doolittle, twenty-four, whom a grand jury refused to indict last February for the slaying of Albert James McCoy, was shot to death yesterday evening.

Mrs. A. H. Bailey, mother of McCoy, surrendered to a sheriff.

"I have just shot Minus Doolittle for what he did to my son. Since my son died, I have nothing to live for," she said, and fainted.

Doolittle was shot to death as he walked homeward, by a woman who had parked her car at the corner and apparently waited for him.

Albert James McCoy, son of Mrs. Bailey, was shot to death as he walked with woman companion on a downtown street January 11, 1933, and Minus Doolittle surrendered to police at the time of the shooting. McCoy at that time was under charges of criminal attack on a sister of Minus Doolittle was no-billed by a grand jury.

COMMISSION SOON
FOR NEWFOUNDLAND

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 28.—Newfoundland's return to its old status as a crown colony seems virtually assured, the government having told the Legislature of its plans for "giving immediate effect" to the recommendations of the royal commission that investigated the island's dominion's financial and economic position.

Sweeping changes in the country's government structure held out the possibility of freedom from "unprecedented difficulties," said the speech from the Throne yesterday, and Prime Minister F. C. Alderdice, in announcing the government's stand, declared the suspension of the island's constitution and the substitution of government by commission to be "in the best interests of the country."

There was no debate on the proposals yesterday. After hearing the speech from the Throne, the Legislature adjourned, with debate set for to-day. An amendment calling for a week's adjournment, proposed from the opposition benches of the Lower House by F. G. Bradley, was defeated.

REFERENDUM URGED

The opposition speaker declared the commission's findings should be submitted to the people in a referendum before action by the Legislature. He offered no motion to this effect.

Other opposition speakers were silent. There are only three members on the left of the speaker's chair, while government supporters number twenty-four.

Before the Legislature went to session the government secured assurance from its majority of United Newfoundland party members in the Legislative Assembly that they would vote to ratify the report. And from members of the Legislative Council came indications also the recommendations would be approved.

Premier Alderdice said he would not consider acceptance of the report confession of failure. Rather, he termed it a "courageous effort" toward recovery, and he forewent the day when, free of troubles, Newfoundland would "prove worthy to have her rights restored."

In order to clear the decks for discussion on the report, the government had placed no other matters on the agenda for its emergency session.

M.P.P. CHOSEN IN MANITOBA CONTEST

Portage la Prairie, Man., Nov. 28.—Manitoba's first by-election since the administration of Premier Bracken was re-elected in June, 1932, to-day left the party standing unchanged.

W. R. Sexsmith, prominent Manitoba sportsman and Conservative candidate, was elected in Portage la Prairie yesterday in a contest necessitated by the appointment of F. G. Taylor, Conservative leader, to the Manitoba Supreme Court.

A second count, under the single transferable vote system, was necessary before Mr. Sexsmith was declared elected over his two opponents, E. A. Gilroy, Independent, and like Mr. Sexsmith a prominent sportsman, and H. A. Ireland, nominee of the Independent Labor Party.

After Mr. Ireland, who was given 599 votes on the first count, had been eliminated, Mr. Sexsmith was declared elected with a total of 1,280 to Mr. Gilroy's 1,022.

There was no candidate of the Progressive-Labor Government of Mr. Bracken in the field.

Winnipeg, Nov. 28.—Notices are being sent out this week to 2,000 Federal Government employees in Manitoba, warning them that their wages will be taken unless they pay their share of the two per cent wage tax.

Of 2,700 Dominion Government employees in Manitoba, it is understood only between 600 and 700 have paid the wage tax.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—Accused of stealing three ducks, Robert Lewis, nineteen, a negro, told Judge S. J. Spivey he had been awakened in his home by a quacking sound, and lo, there were three ducks in the room.

Dr. Blair is associate professor in pathology and bacteriology at the University School of Medicine, Tuscaloosa, and has been studying spiders for the last eighteen months.

He placed the insect on his hand and calmly allowed it to bite his finger for ten seconds.

FARM MARKET
AID IS ASKEDAgricultural Leaders of Canada, Meeting in Toronto,
Want Dominion Action

Toronto, Nov. 28.—Agricultural leaders of Canada pleaded for support in marketing of farm produce at their conference here yesterday. Efforts towards obtaining the Dominion Government's aid for control of farm produce marketing were urged.

Dean F. M. Clement of the University of British Columbia pleaded for support for the British Columbia fruit and dairy industries, while L. C. Brouillette, president of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Growers, urged elimination of barriers between western and eastern Canadian agriculturists.

Dean Clement told how European countries were working toward agricultural self-sufficiency. Danubian countries were entering into competition with Canada's wheat industry and Great Britain, through the British Agricultural Marketing Act, was attempting to protect agriculture.

In face of these movements, he emphasized Canada would have to become more self-sufficient.

H. Mercer of Vancouver, manager of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, declared the price of milk had dropped from seventy-two cents to forty cents per pound butter fat when the courts ruled the British Columbia Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Act levies were indirect taxation. Federal legislation, he declared, was necessary if present difficulties were to be removed.

DISARMAMENT
PLAN ADVOCATEDBaldwin Says Britain, France and Italy Must Negotiate
With Germany

London, Nov. 28.—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, yesterday evening told the House of Commons, Great Britain, France and Italy must get in direct touch with Germany in efforts to settle the disarmament question. Mr. Baldwin was speaking in the debate on the Labor amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the Throne affecting foreign policy.

The armament situation, he said, presented very great difficulties and three possible ends: First, disarmament of all nations to the level of existing German armaments; second, limitation of armaments to a point excluding all large offensive weapons, which would mean partial disarmament of the heavily-armed countries and rearmament by Germany to that point; third, competition in arms.

The third alternative, he declared, must never be allowed to become effective. He emphasized it was not the opinion of the British government that any country should be kept in a permanent position of armament inferiority. He said it must be hoped Germany would change and become pacific when she resumed her place as a partner in arms deliberations.

ENGLISH CARS FOR DOMINION

Austin Motor Cars and Delivery Trucks Will Be Available in Canada

All motor-car operators who pay attention to the service they get from their machines, and especially commercial operators who keep records of what running and up-keep costs them, will be interested in the announcement that the British Austin motor cars and delivery vans are being made available in Canada under a big development programme. The old tradition of thoroughness is maintained in England, even in the manufacture of products embodying latest inventions and improvements. And this is a tradition which soon shows itself in pounds and pence or dollars and cents.

Appreciation of Sir Herbert Austin's work has long been great in Australia, South Africa and India, as well as in the British Isles and on the continent of Europe. Austin cars have proved their serviceability under all kinds of weather and road conditions—even in the Australian "bush," which Sir Herbert has had in mind in his work ever since he got to know it in his youth. The "bush" of motor-cars, the Austin Seven, which is built one of many Austin models, has proved itself a miracle of strength in general service, and has gained more records in speed and reliability trials than any ten other cars.

Austin cars and vans will be sold and serviced by a chain of sales and service agencies in centres of population all across Canada, under the direction of E. Palmer Clarkson, who has been well known to the Canadian trade for more than twenty years, especially through his association with the Dodge car which he introduced into Canada years ago.

STILL SEIZED NEAR NANAIMO

Nanaimo, Nov. 28.—A party composed of provincial police, excise officers and Game Warden Greenfield, led by Sgt. Russell of Nanaimo, raided the shack of Robert Turner, a former Victorian, between South Forks and the Nanaimo River, one mile from the island highway, yesterday, and seized a still concealed in a bush and thirty-five quarts of "mash." Turner was lodged in Nanaimo jail on a charge of being in possession of an illicit still.

Bismarck, N.D., Nov. 28 (Associated Press).—Sheriffs and county auditors in North Dakota yesterday were ordered by proclamation of Governor William Langer to "desist absolutely" from issuing foreclosures or tax deeds in cases affecting farm homes, lands farmed, and homes in cities.

PRIZES ARE WON BY B.C. HONEY

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Nov. 28.—At the fourteenth annual meeting here of the B.C. Honey Producers' Association of the lower mainland, the members congratulated each other on their successes at the Empire Exhibition, which placed British Columbia completely ahead of other Dominions and provinces in the empire.

Protest was made to the provincial government against the abrupt cessation of inspection work in the height of the season, said to be like half spraying an orchard, or half-testing a herd.

Qualifications for the new bee-masters' certificates were discussed, the first examination to be held next May. Officers elected for 1934 include J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, honorary president; J. W. Wilson, president; E. R. Freeman, vice-president; A. W. Finlay, honorary secretary-treasurer; M. V. Jenks, auditor.

NEW HYDROGEN PROCESS REPORTED

Associated Press
Folsom Prison, Calif., Nov. 28.—Working in an improvised prison laboratory, a convict here has developed a system of making hydrogen at a cost experts estimate at one forty-fifth the present commercial production charge. Engineers who witnessed a demonstration by the convict, James F. Burke, say his method may revolutionize the hydrogen industry.

Using four sealed dressing jars, single dry cell and other home-made equipment, Burke made hydrogen in a small room off the office of Warden Court Smith.

The convict claims to have developed a "depolarizing" solution which hastens the decomposition of water into hydrogen and oxygen, its principal elements.

PAPA PIG KILLS BIG BAD BEAR

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 28 (Associated Press).—"So the three little pigs were happy, because Papa Pig killed the big, bad bear, and ate it."

Sheriff Alf Bartlett told the bedtime story to-day, but he wasn't kidding—his hog did kill a big black bear, after hours of battling to save the lives of the three little pigs.

His children first came in from the Bartlett ranch between Elma and Oakville and said a big bear with two little cubs had come to the pig pen and was trying to eat the little pigs, and that the big papa pig, a 625-pound boar, was battling the bear. The sheriff thought his youngsters had lively imaginations.

Six hours later, he said, he went to the pig pen. The boar, protecting his little pigs and the mother, had ripped into the bear hour after hour and conquered it. He killed the bear, ate a meal, and went to sleep in the mud. The claws and teeth of the bear cost the boar an eye, an ear and several gashes.

Two little cubs and the three little pigs watched the battle.

Mrs. Norman Wilson occupied the chair, and Mrs. T. Charlesworth acted as secretary. After some discussion, it was decided to form an organization and nominations were called for five directors. The following were elected: Mrs. F. Speed, Mrs. T. Charlesworth, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. C. A. Philadelphia, Nov. 28 (Associated Press)—Eddie Hinkle, sixteen, wanted a smoke in the worst way and, it appears, that is about the way he went after it. Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SHORT CUTS FOR UNCOMFORTABLE
NIGHT FEEDINGS

While baby is learning to get along with only five feedings per day it is well to be prepared with a special night feeding in case he should waken. It is almost impossible to convince a hungry baby at two in the morning that he really should sleep the rest of the night. And giving this early morning bottle is inevitably a disagreeable duty in cold weather. There is the matter of quieting a crying, wet baby and getting the milk heated before the rest of the household is awake.

SLEEPING BAG CONVENIENT

To prevent unnecessary chilling the baby would be better off in a sleeping bag. Then he may be carried into a warmer room while the bed is changed and dried, or he may have his diaper changed with a minimum of discomfort by simply opening up the bottom of the bag. Meanwhile the bottle may be heated.

Milk must be kept cold until feeding time. There is no safe way of heating milk and keeping it hot until the baby wakens for it, though successive crops of young mothers are struck by the convenience and ingenuity of this idea. When milk is heated, it offers the best possible medium for the development of bacteria. All milk, even the best milk, has a bacteria count which is too low to be of harm. But a few hours in a hot milk is quite enough to develop these bacteria numbers into armies of bacteria.

HEAT WATER, NOT MILK

Do not heat the milk and put it in a thermos bottle and consider that you have solved the night feeding problem. Instead, heat water boiling hot to put in the thermos bottle. Keep a deep, one pint cup, in the bedroom, pour the boiling water in this, and stand the bottle in it. In a very short time the milk will be heated to a temperature that is agreeable to the baby.

If you have a small electric plate, set the cup of boiling water on it and milk will be heated even more quickly. Milk need not be boiled, but should have the chill removed so that by the time baby is changed and the crib straightened, the bottle will be ready to pop into his hungry little mouth.

BOOK REVEALS
EARL'S LETTERSLord Asquith's Close Friendship With Young Widow Disclosed

Canadian Press
New York, Nov. 28.—A special cable to The New York Times from London yesterday says an unsuspected friendship between the Earl of Oxford and Asquith and the young widow of an army major will be revealed with publication of a new book, "H. M. A. Letters from Lord Oxford to a Friend."

The woman is Mrs. Hilda Harrison, now living quietly in the country near Oxford. She is still pretty and vivacious and is full of memories of the statesman who corresponded with her devotedly for ten years. The Times cable says.

Desmond McCarthy, who writes the introduction to the book, says "she stood apart from the main currents of Lord Asquith's life." Her husband was killed in France in 1917, shortly after Lord Asquith's eldest son, Raymond, met death and possibly the coincidence drew the two together.

She frequently was a guest of the Asquiths at their country house. He wrote in one letter, "There is nothing in the world I long for more than that you should be happy and that I should have more of a share than any one else in making you so." But neither Lord Asquith's wife nor their closest friends knew of the remarkable letters passing between them.

Covering the stormy years of 1915 to 1925, the letters evidently were a relief to Lord Asquith when, as he confessed to Mrs. Harrison in 1925, "I am encompassed with all sorts and sizes of problems, worries and cares."

One letter told how he had reminded King George in October, 1918, that "the war brought a slump in emperors, which neither he nor I could have foreseen four years ago." The King answered, "These are not good days for monarchies."

The Countess of Oxford and Asquith said that she had not read the letters but did not object to their publication. Permission to publish them was granted by her husband's executors, she explained.

On recommendation of the executive, the association decided to sponsor a concert during the Christmas holidays in conjunction with the senior body. Robert McKean nominated the following to the association membership: Miss Connie Barlow, Miss Eleanor Whitwell, Alex MacDonald, Edward Juny, P. Prumehlo, George Andrews, George Warren, Kenneth Lawson, Robert Humberstone and Jack Crozier.

The business meeting was followed by a social evening with contests and games.

Man With Donkey
To Be Immortalized

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 28.—"The Man With the Donkey" is to be immortalized in Australian marble, as typifying the spirit of the Anzacs, those great soldiers who won fame in the Gallipoli campaign. "The Man With the Donkey" was a private soldier known as "Murphy," but his real name was Simpson. One day he found a donkey which had strayed from the Turkish lines and conceived the idea of using it to bring in the wounded. Told by his officer to go ahead, he worked quietly day and night for three weeks, dodging bullets and shrapnel, rescuing the wounded from a zone of intense danger. He seemed to bear a charmed life, but one day his donkey came back alone. Later the Australians wanted to present the donkey to the King, but a search showed it had been left behind at the evacuation of Gallipoli. The Red Cross is collecting funds to build a monument to a simple hero, and his tough old donkey will be a feature of the design.

M. R. Robertson Chapter—The regular business meeting of the Margaret Rocks Robertson Chapter was held at headquarters yesterday evening with the regent, Mrs. L. A. Genge, in the chair. A standing vote of sympathy to Mrs. Albert Griffiths in her recent bereavement, was given. The usual bereavement was made. Mrs. Robertson's monthly donations were made. Mrs. Woodcroft, the child welfare convener, gave a splendid report on this work, and has sent out an amazing quantity of clothing to six families in the Peace River and lower mainland and island. Miss Cooke gave an interesting educational report, particularly concerning the adopted family in Savona. It was decided to send a donation of $10 to the library of this school.

TEACHERS HEAR
HON. G. M. WEIR

New Minister Guest at "Education Week" Banquet in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Headed by Hon. G. M. Weir, minister of education, and H. N. McCordindale, superintendent of schools, teachers of Vancouver schools gathered in Hotel Vancouver yesterday evening for a banquet which inaugurated the second annual "Education Week."

The meeting, 1,000 strong, had as guests Mayor I. D. Taylor, Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P.-elect, President L. S. Klink of University of British Columbia, and representatives of church, civic and professional organizations of the city.

Dr. Weir, introduced by Chairman W. V. McLeish as the man "destined to be the most outstanding minister of education in the history of B.C.," received an ovation when he rose to speak.

The new minister replied to a series of popular criticisms of education, made a few guarded references to his policy and promised that the superannuation fund for teachers would be safeguarded.

"I don't think it is possible to spend too much money for true education," he said, in advocating greater education for the masses and suggesting that the age limit for free education in B.C. might be raised from fifteen years.

"British Columbia has not run riot in spending money on teaching," he continued. "The standard of education must rise to keep pace with the increasing complexity of our civilization."

"If you don't spend money to prevent crime you will have to spend more on reformatories and prisons," he warned.

The function of education is to keep people abreast of changing conditions. Dr. Weir said, in forecasting a series of experiments in "socialized administration of education."

"Vancouver is the most progressive city in Canada as far as education is concerned, but, of course, I cannot speak for Victoria," he continued. Quoting the late J. S. Gordon, H. N. McCordindale declared that "it is our duty and privilege to teach the boys and girls in our schools to live and not to make a living."

He described Dr. Weir as "a man who has been trained in the job, who understands the science of education," and asked teachers to join in co-operating with the minister.

Mrs. Edward Mahon, the third speaker, stressed the value of Education Week and congratulated teachers and school trustees in uniting in a common work.

Here Is Happy Land,
No Money Worry

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 28.—New Guinea is the one delectable spot in the world where there are no currency problems, according to a district officer's report which has been received by the Australian Minister for Territories. In the district of Kekopu, Rabaul, the currency, which is shell money, amounts to nearly $1,200,000. This currency is useful only for inter-tribe commerce, and is of no use for trade with white people. There is a certain mysticism attached to the currency, many of the shells having been handed down from one generation to another for centuries past. In one house $1,500 worth of such shells were

Did not wait for had planned to spirit young Jane into town to have her likeness taken. Did depend on Samuel's mother to assist me with this thing—and she brought Jane to meet me, looking very sweet and young.

Straight to Wilfrid Gibson's Studio at 748 Port Street. Indeed—it was a pleasure to see his way with a child. His kinde smile be welcome and put Jane quite at ease—she did laugh and game. Master Gibson did so make her think. Faith! the likeness should be perfect. Did arrange to have but two finished for my sister-in-law, Fannie. It be a wonderful thing, Master Gibson doth do. One picture or two pictures just what one doth want and have the money for, he doth finish. Any size, too, from small to large. Coming out business men in town. If Samuel would have his likeness taken 'twould please me much. Methinks if only men did know how much their 'an folk like to have their likeness, they would more often have this thing done. Mister Gibson's studio be the right place for them to go for here they have this wonderful privilege of ordering just one, or two, or three—just as they wish.

Wee Jane did go away with Samuel's mother. One big store in town did open their "Toy-land" display just over the week-end and she be making all this past year in his house up near the Northern Pole.

Myself did hurry on to the English Bakery. Did promise Bess some almond paste to put atop a small cake she did bake. English Bakery Almond Paste be so fresh and well flavoured and 'tis but for a pound. There was much bustle and scurry in this shoppe to-day. The time be getting short for mailing puddings and Christmas cake to England. Did myself order a cake wrapped and sent to Mr. Redstone in London.

He did speak so highly of English Bakery cooking when he did visit us last year. Do look longingly at their Christmas Cake—so full of fruit, and so richly dark in color. Could not forbear to take a wee bit home for a pre-Yuletide treat. It is but 50c a pound with the icing. Iced and decorated in the Christmas fashion it be 60c a pound—but 'tis worth the extra bit of money to have a cake iced to perfection in the English Bakery way.

Straight down Port Street to Government and on thence to Diggon's, where I had in mind to buy two of their very fine calendars showing views of Vancouver Island. The pictures be taken and the calendars—all creamy white and fine gold letterings—be finished right here in this town. The views be perfect, here a striking photo in Cathedral Grove at Cameron Lake and there another of Arbutus Island in Sproat Lake. How it doth bring back memories of my visit there a year ago. Did stop amazed before a perfect picture. 'Tis an interior of our own Cathedral looking toward the great rose window. Did take one to send to England that they might see how well we do progress in this noble and reverent work. Then there be a breath-taking view of the sea in angry mood, a-dashing along the shore. Did almost think to feel the spume a'flying. It be so real. Methinks, to send abroad, these calendars be a perfect gift for they be a very part of this wonderful island.

Back to Douglas Street and could not but stop a moment to watch the evergreens being pulled to position atop one of our bigger shoppes. Could smell the fragrance of deep woods in shape of piney slopes and did thrill at the thought this goodie old Yuletide season be very close at hand.

With thoughts of Christmas stirring mightily in my minde could not but turn to Barber's at Hecroft's Toy Shoppe at 1623 Douglas Street, for 'tis ever with the young things we do find the true spirit of Christmas. Am much taken with the Felt Toys Bess's doth have on display. 'Tis a new idea. Magic felt cut in divers shapes and of all colors. Put together and pressed upon a base board they do take on shape and form most surprising. There be one sette that forms the ABC's—'tis educational as well as exciting to some wee child's imagination. Divers there are felt patches that make divers designs, the patterns do be given 'tis easy for the youthful eye to follow. And dolls, large as life, made of this magic board—'tis doth make there for little fingers to cut and press in shape. There be no glue or paste. These Felt Toys, methinks, should find instant favor with wee children.

Out to find the sky overcast and heavy rain falling. Arms full of parcels did speed toward the bus. Hurrying there do cope upon a pretty scene—'tis hard to forget. Samuel deep in interested talk with that Mistress Knapp he ever doth admire. Did seem to take some time to pass the time of day for they did laugh and talk the while I lingered—waiting for my bus. They did not look my way, and even as I watched did move on together and Samuel did assist her with her hand beneath her arm. She the 'adeel all smiles! Home, and a wee bought!

Street Knapp's doth have a sleek black hair—and her complexion 'tis olive. The date's woman! 'Tis my fortune coming true!—and Samuel . . .

Did wait impatiently until Samuel did come home. In my goodie humor he did seem but nothing said of Mistress Knapp. Did try by divers means to have the truth, but men do be so blind when it doth please them. 'Twas but this morn'g that Samuel did plead ignorance of who this dark woman might be . . . and now!

Am filled with wicked thoughts so do leave Samuel by the radio, for election returns now be coming in and so to bed, though 'tis very evident there be no restful sleep until I do question him more fully.

Beware of the Model Daughter, Dorothy Dix Warns Wife-Hunters—The Girl Who Is Obsessed by Her Family Will Have Small Place in Her Heart for Her Husband

THE FRENCH have a proverb which says that there are some women who are all wife and other women who are all mother. They might as well add that there are still other women who are all daughter and sister. And it is these latter who offer the most difficult matrimonial problem that husbands are ever called upon to solve. For, judged by ordinary standards, they measure up to every requirement of the model wife. They are noble, high-minded women, moral and discreet, industrious and thrifty, good cooks and good managers, clean and neat and orderly.

To the outside observer it seems that the husbands of such a woman should be down on his knees every night thanking Heaven for having bestowed such a treasure upon him, and only the man himself knows that he has got about the worst wife in the world.

Only the man himself knows that he is the victim of a woman who has enslaved him to her family, and that she offers him up to them daily and hourly as a sacrifice, without pity and without mercy. Only the man himself could tell how she has blighted his ambitions and thwarted his plans and wrecked his life for the sake of those who are nearer and dearer to her than he is.

I watched such a case through many years. I knew a fine, energetic young man who married a lovely girl. Everybody congratulated him and told him how lucky he was and how sure he was of having got a good wife because she had been such a wonderful daughter and sister—just the mainstay of the family.

She was all of that. But the trouble was that she continued to be the mainstay of her family and passed the buck on to her husband after she got married.

For years she had nursed a neurotic and peevish mother who had imagined herself an invalid, and had supported a drunken, worthless father and a horde of younger brothers and sisters, and when she married she merely turned the job over to her husband.

It never seemed to occur to her that he had any right to the money he earned, or that there was any injustice in her making him toil to support people who were nothing on earth to him and who had no claim upon him.

The man was industrious and efficient, and always commanded a fine salary, but strive as he might, he could never save any money, not get ahead because of the drains his wife made upon his purse for her family. He would have liked to live well, to have a good house and good furniture and a good car, to travel some, but they never could afford it.

Whenever he planned any indulgence, mother had a spell and had to have specialists and nurses, or Johnny had to be sent to college, or Susie had her tonsils out, or Arabella had to go off on a visit and have a lot of fine dresses, or Tommy had to have his teeth straightened. And that never left enough of the money he earned for the man to indulge himself in anything he wanted.

Nor did he even have his home to himself. From the time they got home from the bridal tour, some of his wife's family were eternally camped in the guest room. Mother made of it a sickbed for months at a time. Sister stayed interminably while she enjoyed the sights of the city, for which the man paid. Brothers grafted free board during the years in which they were getting small salaries. Several times opportunity knocked at the man's door and beckoned him to follow her to fortune in a distant place, but the wife refused to go away from her family.

At last the man died, broken and discouraged and embittered, because he realized that he had held a fifth or sixth or a seventh place in his wife's affections, that she had never considered his interests, nor his pleasures, nor comfort when they came in conflict with that of any member of her own family, and that from the day of his marriage he had toiled ceaselessly for his wife's family and had been nothing but the family goat.

Such cases are not rare. We all know plenty of them, and these wives would say in their own justification that they do no more for their families than they would do if they were not married. If they were single and were at work, they would give the money they made to their families, and they would live poorly and dress shabbily in order to buy a young sister a party frock or send a young brother to college.

And they do not see that, while they may have a right to sacrifice themselves, they have no right to offer up a defenceless husband on the family altar, nor do they realize that a woman who intends to devote her life to her own family should, in common honesty, remain single and bear her burden alone, instead of saddling it on the back of a man who had no intention of espousing a whole family when he married a single slip of a girl.

It is right and natural that a woman should continue to love her family and be interested in it and helpful toward it after she marries, but marriage does alter her relationship toward it and her husband should come not only first in her affections but in her consideration. She has no right to always have her family under foot and keep the house filled with senile aunts and doddering grandpas and squalling brats and jazy nephews and nieces. Because she enjoys them doesn't keep them from boring her husband to death and spoiling his home for him.

The model daughter seldom makes the model wife, for there is no other rival the husband has to fear so much as his wife's family. If she is obsessed by it, he will never have but a small place in her heart.

Olden Legends of Flight

HERMES, THE MESSENGER-GOD
Ancient Greeks were fond of telling about Hermes, a god with winged sandals. Often he was pictured with a winged cap on his head, and sometimes wings were placed on his shoulders. The ancient Romans borrowed this god and called him Mercury. Statues of Hermes were common in olden Greece. They were placed by the sides of roads, in doorways, and inside houses. A visitor to the marketplace in a Greek city would find there a statue of this deity, who was looked upon as one of "the twelve great gods."

to him because, (according to legend) he had stolen cattle from Apollo, the sun-god.
Now and then we hear someone speak of a "goose." That idea may be traced back to Hermes, who was said to send good luck to human beings.
Still another service of the god was to guide spirits of the dead on their way to the kingdom of Hades. Small statues of Hermes were placed in graves.
It is in the air, however, that we find Hermes playing the most striking part. Using the winged sandals given him by Zeus, he traveled far and wide. He took messages from gods to men.
As he journeyed, Hermes moved "as fast as the wind." In those olden times, it was hard for anyone to think that even a god could move faster than that. If ancient Greeks could have seen a modern airplane—say a seaplane—going five miles per minute, perhaps they would have given up worship of Hermes and have turned their prayers to the bird!
The Greeks seem to have made no effort to build a man-carrying airship; but one clever man among them is supposed to have made a pigeon which would "fly by its own power."
Archytas, who lived 350 years ago, is given credit for inventing the toy bird. If the legend is true, he deserves a high place in history. Modern inventors have produced airplanes, but they have not made toy birds which fly freely through the air by the flapping of wings.

EXPLAINS PLAN FOR RECOVERY

Unfortunately, someone had to pay for this policy, and only industry could. Hence costs were greater for the products of the different industries. Consequently he considered the NRA scheme a race between greater purchasing power and rising costs. It was a question as to which would win.

To stimulate circulation of purchasing power, "Buy Now" campaigns had been staged in the United States. However, people, even when receiving higher wages, were inclined to put something away for a rainy day. As a result all the money that was given out in wages did not immediately return as purchasing power.

He spoke of the case of cotton clothing, showing how this tax increased prices to the consumer with the result the articles were not marketable as easily, thereby reducing the advantage of the scheme.

He expressed great approval of policies aimed to cut out "sweet shops" and child labor, but the industrial policy had to be modified to such an extent in its efforts at compromise that it lost some of its strength, he said.

Need of stimulation

The consumers' trades benefited, but it was the major trades, steel and shipbuilding, that most needed stimulation.

Consumer's goods did not vary as much in depression as did the major industries, which were a quarter of what they had been before the slump.

The stimulus to them did not depend upon the NRA, which scarcely touched them.

"Once you get these capital trades to start, the forces of recovery in the United States will go ahead," the speaker said.

As a result of the NRA policy there was a boom in speculation caused by the placing of orders by big mail order houses attempting to get in their goods before new taxes were put on industry. When these orders were filled another slump movement naturally followed, Sir Arthur said.

When speculative movements were ironed out, the public could tell how employment and production figures, he said.

The U.S.A. had benefited from the plan as a result of a better spirit which replaced the dependency evident at the beginning of the year, Sir Arthur said. He believed Roosevelt's speech in March had been the most beneficial in the United States since the Gettysburg address of Lincoln.

As a course to follow, the speaker suggested the value of continuous public works. That would aid in building up purchasing power. It would have to be paid for, eventually, but the United States could easily afford that when prosperity returned.

He also favored a greater stability for the United States dollar in comparison to foreign currencies.

No country, not even the United States, could be entirely self-supporting, he declared before re-affirming the necessity of securing a stable currency medium for international trade.

Sir Arthur looked to see a move to stabilize the currencies of the two great countries, Britain and the United States.

When the British were sure of a fixed value for their money in the United States, then trade between the two countries would increase and the United States would benefit, he declared.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, who was introduced by J. B. Clearhue, president of the Kiwanis Club.

W. T. Strath, president of the Canadian Club, acted as chairman and congratulated newly-elected members of the provincial house who attended the luncheon. Among those at the head table were Mr. Weir, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands; Byron Johnson, M.P.-elect; Herbert Anson, M.P.-elect, and Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.-elect, and Mayor David Leeming.

Sir Arthur will deliver another address this evening, starting at 8 o'clock, in the Empress Hotel, under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

Liberal Campaign Manager Grateful

C. J. McDowell Thanks
Efficient Band of Workers
For Fine Assistance

C. J. McDOWELL

"On behalf of the four Liberal candidates for whom I had the honor of being campaign manager, I want to heartily thank the voters of Victoria who showed their faith in Liberalism and rolled up such a heavy vote for our candidates, particularly in view of the large field to select from." C. J. McDowell, campaign manager for the four Liberal candidates in Victoria, declared this morning.

"The campaign conducted by our four candidates was clean, straightforward and absolutely free from personalities. I feel absolutely certain that had the election been held on November 2 we would have returned our four candidates. However, since that time certain things arose which I consider trivial and of no bearing whatever on the issues at stake. These matters, some of which were half truths, were spread broadcast and had an influence on the number of persons who would have voted the straight Liberal ticket.

"It has been a pleasure to have conducted this campaign for the Liberals as I have had the assistance of one of the most loyal and enthusiastic bands of workers it has ever been my privilege to work with. Also I feel honored at having been associated with four candidates of such high standing in the community.

"We feel that as a result of the campaign which we have conducted that the Liberal Party in the city of Victoria stands higher than at any time for many years past. I would like to appeal to the Liberals of this city to continue to take an interest in their party and build it to even greater strength.

"As I did at our meeting last night after the final returns were announced I wish to extend my congratulations to Mr. Anson and Rev. Mr. Connell at their success and hope that their presence in the Legislature will be of benefit to themselves, the City of Victoria and the province at large."

BADLY HURT, GOES HOME

Mrs. A. Steele Refuses to Stay in Hospital After Injury in Accident

Truck Driver Turns Machine
Over in Swerve to Miss
Street Car

Despite serious injuries to her head, which doctors believe to extend to a fracture of the base of the skull, Mrs. A. Steele, aged seventy years, 225 Quebec Street, refused to stay in hospital yesterday evening after a traffic accident and went home against the advice of two physicians.

She was stated to be resting at home this morning and had improved slightly.

Mrs. Steele was knocked down near the intersection of Belleville and Government Streets shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Roderick Hood, a cyclist, aged fifteen years, of 633 Simcoe Street. The boy was also rendered unconscious and was hazy as to how the accident happened.

There were no eye-witnesses but a street car operator saw the lad plunge over the handlebars of his machine. After he stopped the car and got out, he found the boy and the woman lying unconscious in the roadway. They were both taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, the boy having cuts and abrasions on the face. About 8 o'clock in the evening Mrs. Steele, having recovered consciousness, went home with friends, refusing to heed the advice of physicians to stay in the hospital owing to the serious nature of her injuries.

In another accident yesterday evening, William Pledger of Christmas Avenue, Saanich, suffered bruises and cuts on the head when he was knocked down by Robert A. Miller, 2050 Oak Bay Avenue, at the intersection of Pandora Avenue and Blanshard Street.

John Stark, Saanich, had his hand badly cut when he averted a truck he was driving to miss a street car at the intersection of Elliott and Government Streets about 6:30 o'clock this morning and the machine turned over. He missed the street car.

junction of Quadra and Collinson Streets.

Mr. Gordon told the court that mortgage interest on the property was more than one year in arrears and that city taxes for more than $1,000 are unpaid. The property had been operated as a nurse's home for St. Joseph's Hospital for a number of years, then it was operated as an apartment hotel and for more recent years was known as the Small Charming Hotel. For the last year it has been vacant. The property is in the name of R. M. Brewer.

The justice issued an order giving Mr. Gordon leave to proceed with the foreclosure.

Leave to proceed was also given by the court to-day in the case of two other foreclosure actions.

Daily Health Service
SPORTS MUST BE CHOSEN TO FIT SPECIAL ABILITY

Each Boy Should Compete in Events Which Suit Him Best, Fishbein Says

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
The ability to run, to jump and to throw effectively is necessary to success in various forms of athletic endeavor. The purpose of athletic exercise is not primarily the development of large muscles but rather the development of form, grace, proper competitive spirit and mental attitude.

Certain sports are not at all adapted to certain types of bodies. It has been shown that girls and women cannot successfully run the 800-metre race and this has now been barred from women's competitions in Olympic games.

The bodies of women are not suited to long jumping and putting the shot or to lifting heavy weights. True, there are occasional women who might excel in these sports but in most instances they will be found to have something of the masculine type in their body build.

It is commonly believed that a small, slender girl seldom makes a good shot putter. In fact, big men seldom develop into good sprinters. True, an occasional athlete of great weight will excel in sprinting but the majority of fast runners are of medium build.

Boys differ a great deal in their athletic ability and it is the function of an intelligent coach or trainer to find the sport to which a boy is best adapted since it is good for him to do the things athletically in which he excels.

Much, in addition, can be accomplished by proper training.

The ability to breathe properly, to run correctly so far as concerns the distribution of weight and the carriage of the body, and to use the breathing apparatus and the heart to the best advantage are not only matters of body build but also of training.

There is a limit to the speed of contraction of any one muscle, to the duration of the contraction, and also to the action of groups of muscles. It is the experience of many athletes that the amount of power that can be exerted by the muscle is in excess of their speed of contraction or use.

However, if strength is in excess and if contraction speed is well developed records are sure to be broken.

It has, in general, been believed that a good little man can beat a poor big one, but there seems to be no question that a good big man will beat a good little one.

Height is of particular advantage in such track events as the high jump, in which the centre of weight must be raised from the ground. To begin with, the tall, thin athlete has a light weight to raise and only has to lift his legs up to be well over the bar.

Height should also be of advantage in putting the shot because the throw starts at a higher point and its initial velocity and angle being equal, will travel farther when thrown by a tall man than by a short one.

career in the Montreal conference. He had been chairman of the district and a delegate to the general conference. On his superannuation some years ago, Mr. Pearson came to Vancouver. Although on the retired list, he still felt the call to service and volunteered for work in the Peace River district, serving with acceptance at Grande Prairie, Alta.

Surviving him are a daughter, Mrs. Laura Singleton, Toronto, and a son, W. H. Pearson of Calgary.

CITIZENS HONOR NEW MINISTER

Hon. K. C. MacDonald Guest at Civic Banquet Held in Vernon

Canadian Press
Vernon, B.C., Nov. 28.—Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, was honored at a civic banquet here yesterday evening on the occasion of his first visit to the Okanagan Valley since he accepted office on the invitation of Premier Pattullo. About 250 attended.

Mayor E. W. Frowse presided and the toast to the new minister was responded by H. W. Galbraith, G. Whitehead, for the board of trade, and Richard Peters, for the Vernon Business Men's Association. Extended congratulations and felicitations, Dr. Allen Harris, M.P.P.-elect for South Okanagan, and a group of visitors from Kelowna and Kamloops were in attendance.

CAR TICKET PLAN FOR SCHOOL PUPILS

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—By arrangement between the Vancouver School Board and the B.C. Electric Railway Company, 600,000 children's street car tickets will be sold during the school year 1933-34 at the rate of ten for twenty-five cents. The sale will terminate June 3, 1934.

That number of tickets will not take care of all the children traveling to school on street cars, so the school board has decided to make them available to high school students only.

The tickets will be issued only on the basis of financial need. The B.C. Electric Railway Company has provided the board with certificates entitling the recipient to purchase tickets on the street cars or at the company's offices at the ten for twenty-five cents rate, instead of the regular price of eight for twenty-five cents.

These certificates are now in the hands of high school principals, who will issue them.

AUSTRIAN LEADERS SCORED BY HITLER

Nuremberg, Germany, Nov. 28.—Chancellor Hitler called the Austrian Dollfus Government "murderers" in a speech yesterday at the grave of a Reichsmarschall, slain last Friday on the Austrian border.

"The dead man is a martyr for a common-German cause," the German leader said at the state funeral held for Private Schumacher, who was killed with comrades at the time of the shooting. Hitler further declared the only thing in the way of union between Germany and Austria was suppression in Austria.

"I believe his (the soldier's) death was the only thing we all hope for," he said, alluding to union between the two countries.

FUNERAL OF LATE PASTOR IS HELD

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—The funeral of the late Rev. William Pearson was held here yesterday afternoon. The former pastor, for years member of the Ottawa Presbyterian of the United Church of Canada, died last Thursday. He was eighty-four.

Mr. Pearson was ordained in the Methodist Church in 1878 and spent the larger part of his ministerial

IN NEW FEATURE AT THE DOMINION

STATE MEDICINE FAR IN FUTURE

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 28.—"It will be a long time before we have state medicine in this country so far as the Dominion is concerned," Prime Minister Bennett told the Royal Canadian College of Physicians and Surgeons at their annual banquet here yesterday evening.

He could not conceive of a new and expanding country fostering that state of mind of developing a system of state medicine for the nation as a whole.

What the provinces might do within their own jurisdiction was a different matter, and difficult to ascertain, the Premier added.

The Prime Minister assured the gathering the Dominion Government would lend its assistance to the extent of its power in those efforts the Dominion and the physicians had in common—the happiness and the health of the people.

YOUTH HURT

Nanaimo, Nov. 28.—Joseph Marino, a Nanaimo youth, was struck on the head by falling tackle at Bebank's Lumber Camp yesterday and taken to the local hospital.

ALBERTA EX-M.P.P. CALLED BY DEATH

Deaths reported in Canadian Press dispatches yesterday and to-day included:
Edmonton—Robert Telford, seventy-two, member of the first two Legislatures of Alberta.
Toronto—Louis Caplan, native of Montreal and wholesale clothing trade veteran.
Quebec—Madame M. A. Turcotte, wife of the late H. Adjuir Turcotte, K.C.
Philadelphia—Rev. Dr. Ellen Revelen Bartholomew, seventy-eight, former president of the general synod of the Reformed Church in the United States.

New London, Conn.—Henry Singlewood Blasing, eighty-four, internationally known for his paintings of animal life.

Paris—Emile Louise-Marie Chatelet, eighty-two, author, member of the Institute and conservator of the University of Paris Library.

Jugoslav-Turkish Treaty Is Signed

Associated Press
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 28.—The "friendship" peace pact between Yugoslavia and Turkey was signed yesterday by emissaries of both countries.

Speaking of the treaty's import, Bosko Jettich, Foreign Minister of Yugoslavia, said: "Our goal is consolidation of Balkan peace, co-operation of Balkan countries and maintenance of the status quo."

German-Polish Negotiations Start

Associated Press
Warsaw, Nov. 28.—Marshall Josef Pilsudski and Hans Adolf von Moltke, the German minister, yesterday began a series of negotiations on questions affecting relations between Poland and Germany.

The conference is the outgrowth of an agreement reached last week in Berlin by Chancellor Hitler and the Polish minister, Joseph Lipki, that the governments should take up matters of mutual interest.

NRA CODE FOR U.S. LIQUOR MEN

Associated Press
Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 28.—President Roosevelt to-day had the arm of the United States Government extended over the newly-arising liquor industry and the powerful motion picture business.

In signing the codes covering these two groups the President yesterday evening enunciated policies permitting them to regulate themselves, but providing for strict federal supervision with power of veto and initiative.

In this principle some observers were inclined to see a policy of gradually returning authority to supervise and direct.

Mr. Roosevelt acted quickly on receipt of the liquor code to put it in form for his approval so there will be some control of the whisky traffic when the repeal amendment goes into effect next week.

"MIKADO" WILL BE COLORFUL

First Showing Is Postponed

The world premiere of "The Crimson Paradise," which was filmed in Victoria last month, has been postponed from December 5 to December 16. This change has been made in order to permit the stars of the picture, Lucille Brown and Nick Stuart of Hollywood, to be present.

The box office for the production of "The Mikado" to-day has been opened at 12.45, 2.25, 4.50, 7.15, 9.35. Added—The First of a Series of Bridge Features "MURDER AT THE BRIDGE TABLE," With Ely Culbertson.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Charles Laughton brings to the Capitol Theatre to-day his interpretation of Henry VIII as England's much-married monarch in "The Private Life of Henry VIII," a London Film Production and a United Artists release.

As directed by Alexander Korda from his story by Lajos Biro and Arthur Wimperis, "The Private Life of Henry VIII" presents in a light, humorous and modern mood the story of the sixteenth century king and five of his six wives, two of whom he had beheaded and two of whom were divorced.

Elsa Lanchester, in private life Mrs. Charles Laughton, plays Ann of Cleves, the German Duchess whose marriage was for reasons of state, and was very short and very funny, lasting only a day and part of a night spent over a card game.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

The falsetto giggle and the funny freckled face of Spec O'Donnell, famous as a kid comedian, again are in evidence in Columbia's "Parole Girl," which is now on view at the Columbia Theatre. O'Donnell plays a magazine salesman—the "earning my way through college" type—whose hilarious actions are among the bright spots of the comedy-drama.

DOMINION THEATRE

An impressive cast, typical of the "new deal" in pictures, has been assembled for the latest Kay Francis picture for Warner Bros., "Mary Stevens, M.D.," which is at the Dominion Theatre, in which Kay Francis plays the title role of a woman physician.

Miss Francis, George Cooper and Thelma Todd are the only names in its list which may be said to be holdovers from the old silent days. All the rest have come into pictures with the advent of sound, although they all have years of legitimate stage experience behind them.

Lyle Talbot, who plays the lead opposite Miss Francis, is a proud member of the stock companies in the middle west—though he has also played in New York, and in many featured roles in motion pictures, notably "Three on a Match" and "20,000 Years in Sing Sing."

The police planned to smoke out the students with tear gas, but were suddenly fallen on from behind by adherents of Professor Cusa's party, members of which are rivals of the Fascist Iron Guard, but nevertheless rallied on this occasion to the rescue.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHURCH SOCIETIES

METROPOLITAN Y.P.S.

A "hard time" party, which included a "mystery trip," was held yesterday evening under the auspices of the Metropolitan Young People's Society. At 7:30 p.m. the members of the "chain gang" were marched several blocks and kept in order by their jailers, Don McCall, Bert Simpson and Albert Wood.

When they arrived at Hill's "Drive Yourself" Garage they were met by two trucks driven by Alfred Redfern and Bill Dawson, who conveyed them to their destination, namely, the grain elevators at the Outer Wharf. J. Burden very kindly showed them over the elevators, explaining the various stages from the time the grain is put in until it is stored in the bins.

The young people arrived back at the church covered with dust, but nevertheless having had a good time. Forfeits were exacted from the members of the gang who failed to wear the regulation dress, the redeeming of these being the main object of the evening.

Next week the meeting will be taken by Miss Jessie Christopher, when the theme will be "Hands Across the Sea." The public is invited to be present.

FIRST UNITED Y.P.S.

CLAIMS CRASH BROKE HEALTH

Metchoin Man Sues For Damages in Saanich Road Accident

Rev. Arthur deB. Owen entered the witness box at noon today in the Supreme Court, before Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, and testified how Walter L. Dallimore's physical health had been shattered by the crash between the Dallimore truck and the private car of Mrs. F. W. Maunsel, Seaview Road, Oak Bay.

After his suffering in that accident, Mr. Dallimore has looked like a very worn-out and weary man, said Rev. Mr. Owen.

Mr. Dallimore, who lives at Metchoin, was put in the witness box and was in such a shaky condition that court attendants had to place a chair on the stand so he could be seated while telling his story. He told how the accident happened on the Saanich Road, near the Saanich Health Centre. He claimed the front wheels had been knocked off his truck and it had been turned into the side by the force of the blow.

With H. B. Beckwith as his lawyer, Mr. Dallimore is suing for unstated damages. He described the permanent bruises and severe shock he had suffered, and told about the injuries to his neck and spine, which, he said, the doctors had informed him would become progressively worse with the passage of time and which have already permanently disabled him.

Other witnesses on the stand today included A. S. O. Musgrave and Arthur Lock.

The public gallery of the courtroom is crowded with witnesses who have been summoned to appear directly interested in the case. Both sides have doctors waiting in court to give expert testimony.

Frank Higgins, K.C., is due to open the case for the defence late this afternoon.

CHILDREN'S AID ASKS FOR MORE

Will Apply to Have Allowances Paid By City Raised to $4 Per Child

Notice that an application will be made on Thursday by the Children's Aid Society to have the city's allowance for nineteen children under supervision of the organization raised to $4 a week was received at the City Hall this morning over the signature of Dr. F. Kincaid, president.

The application will be made before Magistrate George Jay. If the order is allowed, it will cost the city approximately $1,000 a year, according to rough estimate by civic officials. It is understood the application will be contested.

The amount of $4 a week is claimed by the society to represent a "reasonable amount" as allowed by the statute. In most of the city cases the courts ordered payment of sums of $2.50 and $3 a week, the general average being about $3. On this basis the city gave a flat grant of $4.750 this year to the home irrespective of changes in the population of the home.

Since the recent change in directorship of the society, a new policy has been adopted under which all the children are placed in foster homes, and the society has relinquished the city-owned building on Pandora Avenue which was used as the home.

The move to secure a revision of the court orders respecting amounts on children now supervised by the society is designed to bring the city's contribution up to a general average of $4 a week. There are between twenty and thirty city children under the society's care at present, and if the application is granted, the cost to the city would be raised to nearly $6,000, it is understood.

GUN FIGHT WITH MURDER SUSPECT

Provincial Police Engage in Running Battle With Indian Fugitive

Provincial police in pursuit of Jimmy Decker, an Indian charged with the murder of "Shorty" Charlie on September 30 at his cabin on the Allak Lake Indian reservation, on Friday engaged in a running battle with the fugitive, but were unable to effect his capture, according to a report at headquarters here today.

After he had been sighted police gave chase for a short distance, but he eluded them and escaped into the bush. Seven shots were fired, no one being injured, and police are now believed to be closing in on him. His horse was seized and also a package of 30.30 rifle shells which apparently fell from his pocket when he slid off his mount. The police are being aided in their tracking by a native tracker.

MUNRO IS BACK FROM OKANAGAN

At these gatherings agricultural matters were discussed by representatives of all the Farmers' Institutes local throughout the Okanagan and Southern Kootenay country.

At Kamloops William Harrison was re-elected for the seventeenth consecutive term as advisory board member for the district.

Mr. Munro reports a healthy, optimistic outlook throughout Farmers' Institutes.

In the northern districts institutes have secured a number of orders for ties for the Canadian National Railway which have proved of much assistance in tiding over their members during the winter months.

CANDIDATES EXPRESS THANKS TO ELECTORS

Candidates in yesterday's election this morning expressed their thanks to the electors for the support accorded them and their policies.

Those who sent their letters of thanks to The Times were as follows:

HON. JOHN HART
Minister of Finance

"I would like to thank the electors of Victoria for the endorsement they gave to the Liberal programme at the polls yesterday. The vote shows confidence in Premier Pattullo and the policies he has presented and will strengthen his hands in his appeal to the Dominion capital for co-operation in putting into effect the industrial recovery plan which is the definite objective of the province. May I extend my congratulations to my colleague, Byron Johnson, on his victory in leading the polls. I sincerely regret that the other two colleagues who were running mates did not share in the victory."

BYRON JOHNSON

"As a native son of Victoria and one who has spent his entire life, with the exception of three years overseas, in this city, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the electors of Victoria for the very great honor which was accorded me yesterday. While my election as a representative to the legislature is in itself a high distinction, I must confess that the honor was placed at the head of the polls gave me very special gratification.

"I realize the tremendous responsibilities which go with public life in this time and it is my earnest hope that I will merit the confidence the electors have shown in me.

"I am happy to know that I will have the sound advice of an experienced legislator and a very capable manager, and that very capable body of workers which labored so earnestly to assure my election."

HERBERT ANSCOMB

"It is difficult for me to express adequately my very sincere appreciation to the electors of Victoria and Oak Bay for the confidence so generally expressed at the polls yesterday. It is gratifying indeed to have clear government majority in the House, the electors of Victoria should feel some adequate opposition should be forthcoming."

"May I also take this opportunity of extending my congratulations to the other winning candidates and assure the governing members it is my intention to work in harmony with them in any legislative programme for the province. I am deeply grateful also to the many friends who kindly assisted me with the loan of their cars and in other ways during the campaign."

REV. E. J. CONNELL

"I appreciate very greatly the confidence reposed in me by the electorate yesterday. Our C.O.F. workers did valiantly. While my three colleagues were not elected, we have all of us every reason to be proud of the large vote we secured. We look forward to still greater efforts in the future, until we get the great majority of our fellow citizens to see the necessity and benefit of a Co-operative Commonwealth."

J. B. CLEARHURST

"I shall be greatly obliged if you will permit me to express through your columns my thanks to all those who so handsomely supported me in the recent election. I am deeply grateful."

"Though I have been personally unsuccessful, it gives me a great deal of satisfaction to know that the electors have wholeheartedly endorsed the policies of the Liberal party. I have supported throughout the campaign. Premier Pattullo can now feel that he has a mandate from the people to do all within his power to put into force his recovery programme. The people are expecting results; I am certain they will receive them."

"I wish to extend my congratulations to the winning candidates, who will certainly carry out the faith that has been placed in them."

"I wish also to acknowledge my indebtedness and thanks to our campaign manager, Mr. C. J. McDowell, and to all the Liberal workers who so generously gave of their time and ability to assist in our campaign."

"My thanks are also extended to The Victoria Daily Times and The Daily Colonist for the generous and fair reports of our meetings and their courtesy to myself."

A.L.D. W. H. KINSMAN

"I desire very heartily to thank all those who voted for me yesterday. Naturally I am disappointed that I was not elected, but I am very grateful that the electorate sustained Premier Pattullo's choice of a Minister of Finance by electing Hon. John Hart, and that they also sustained Byron Johnson by such a handsome vote on his first appearance in public life."

"The four Liberal candidates fought clean and honorable combat throughout, and have nothing to regret in regard to their campaign."

"It is a matter of gratification to me, as it must be to all citizens of the province, that the Liberal Government has been given the large measure of endorsement it has received in these deferred elections. As the Premier remarked last night, the Liberal Government is forward to the solution of the very serious problems which lie before them, in which duty they should have, and I believe will have, the co-operation of the entire people. For myself, I need hardly say that I am wholeheartedly behind them, and that everything I can do to assist them in their recovery process shall be done. Every one who knows the Premier and his colleagues, the Minister of Finance, realizes that any pledge given by them will be fully redeemed."

"The election campaign has been unusually lengthy, virtually three months since the election date was fixed and the campaign was under way. The candidates are concerned, and it has entailed a great strain upon all the candidates. Now that it is over let us all rally loyally to the support of the Pattullo Government and assist it by every means in our power."

T. GUY SHEPPARD

REGINALD HAYWARD

"I am not downhearted in defeat, and I am still able to carry a smile in political adversity. I desire to congratulate the victors and wish for them every success in their efforts towards maintaining responsible and good government. I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to those near four thousand voters who supported me at the polls, also to all those who worked for and assisted me in many ways during the campaign. Having the support of no political party, and working without any organization, and being opposed by two highly organized parties, it is gratifying to find that I had so many friends with me."

W. C. MORESBY, K.C.

"I would like to express my sincere thanks to those who supported me in the polls, and though unsuccessful, I must say I deeply appreciate the vote which was accorded me."

P. J. SINNOTT

"I wish to thank all my supporters. This was my first election and without an organization or campaign fund I could hardly have expected a larger vote. My thanks particularly are conveyed to The Victoria Daily Times for the splendid manner in which it aided my campaign."

ALDERMAN A. McCAVIN

"I desire to express my sincere thanks to the number of citizens who supported me with their votes at the polls and so generously worked in my behalf in the election yesterday. I also wish to thank the many friends who assisted me with their cars for transportation of voters. The people of this city have expressed their will at the polls and we must bow to their wishes. I trust that the additional strength given to Premier Pattullo and his government will work for the betterment of the people of the province."

BRIG. J. S. BROWN

"Allow me to express my thanks to the small and noble band of supporters who cast their ballots in my favor yesterday, and who remained with the retiring government in its hour of defeat. Our excellent band of workers is also in line for considerable credit. I have no post mortems."

Whether or not a person becomes a permanent resident of a municipality as soon as he moves in, is a point of contention between the Jubilee Hospital and the Oak Bay Council at present. The council has refused to pay for these cases and is seeking to clarify the status of a permanent resident.

Longdale, the Hart House Quartet visited Shawanigan Lake School, and later gave a concert at Strathcona Lodge, which was attended by Shawanigan Lake and Strathcona Lodge schools. The final item was Schubert's Quartette in B minor, the "Death and the Maiden" quartette, and as encore Haydn's "Serenade," a delightfully soothing little air, which left the audience delighted with a high-class entertainment of classical music.

USE COLOR IN EGG GRADINGS

Containers, Labels and Crates Will Be Printed in Distinctive Colors

To facilitate recognition of the new egg grading system, as enforced by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, a short while ago, containers, printing on the cartons, grade tags and crates will be stamped with a distinctive color, varying as to whether the eggs are grade A, B or C, according to a statement made by William E. Hagger, inspector of eggs for the Dominion Department of Agriculture in Victoria.

In accordance with government usage in other branches the premier classification, grade A, will be assigned red labels, markings and containers, grade B will be colored, while grade C, which comprises storage and processed eggs, will take yellow.

With the colored markings, as well as the dual system of grading now in effect, the general public will quickly become accustomed to the new gradings, said Mr. Hagger. The response by wholesalers and retailers in adopting the dual system of marking has been marked, stated Mr. Hagger.

Calgary Continues Winning Record In Northwest Hockey

Tigers Score Third Straight Victory at Expense of Vancouver 6 to 2

Portland Turns Back Edmonton

Calgary Tigers and Portland Buckaroos, early pace-makers in the race for Northwestern Professional Hockey League honors, to-day were the only unbeaten teams in the circuit.

While Tigers were handing Vancouver Lions a 6 to 2 defeat at Vancouver yesterday evening, Portland was taking the measure of Edmonton Eskimos by the same score.

Yesterday evening's win consolidated Tigers at the top of the standings with a perfect record of three wins, while Buckaroos were close behind, also with a perfect record, but having played a game less than the leaders.

A defence that at times seemed non-existent and let Tiger attacks break through almost at will proved too much of a handicap for Red Hardaker in Lions' nets, and the prairie squad had little trouble in scoring a goal in the first period and adding three more in the second while Vancouver was turned back without a score.

Tigers added two more counters half way through the last session before Lions broke through to score twice.

PORTLAND TOO GOOD

Eskimos battled Buckaroos on even terms for the first period, each team scoring once. From then on it was Portland's game. Adding two goals in the second period, Buckaroos counted three more in the third, while Eskimos were only able to score once in the final period.

Jimmy Evans, former star in the old Pacific Coast League, was the big noise for Buckaroos, scoring two goals and assisting in two more.

HAWKS SEEK TO DEVELOP BROTHER ACT

Chicago N.H.L. Club Hopes to Emulate Bun and Bill Cook Duo With Rangers

T. Coulter Being Groomed For Position With Brother Art on Defence

Chicago, Nov. 28.—After a couple seasons of watching the fans plunk down their money to see the New York Rangers' famous brother combination of Bill and Bun Cook go after goals, Tommy Gorman, the cage manager of Chicago Black Hawks, is laying plans to give the Chicago routers a pair of brothers to cheer on.

Gorman already has Art Coulter, who has developed in the last couple of years into one of the best young defence players in the league. Tall, husky and speedy, Art can tear down the rink goalward or double an enemy over the boards in the best Eddie Shore manner.

His younger brother, Tom, got a trial with the Hawks this year and failed to make the grade, but the long-viewing Gorman already has begun the task of developing him to the point where he can pair him with Art on the Black Hawk defence.

Gorman paired the youngster, who has all the makings of a good hockey player, but is somewhat shy on experience, with the durable veteran, Holge Bostrom, who has been around long enough to know all the tricks of the defence trade.

With this combination under his arm, Gorman went in search of a minor league club which would take them under the unusual condition that they would be used together at every possible time. The Oklahoma City club of the American Association finally decided to accept the pair after Gorman had refused several offers to sell one or the other alone.

Playing beside Bostrom, a veteran who is a good many more years than he is willing to admit, Coulter should develop fast.

A BETTER TOE IN BUSINESS

59th Annual Meeting IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA

President and General Manager Address the Shareholders

The Annual Meeting of Shareholders was held at the Hotel Vancouver, Toronto, on Wednesday, November 22. The President, Mr. Frank A. Rolph, took the chair at noon, and in moving the adoption of the report, said:

President's Address

Since I addressed you a year ago we have been passing through a period of uncertainty and adjustment, but during the past few months conditions have become more hopeful. The business of the Bank has been conducted on the usual sound principles of banking and as you will see by the Balance Sheet before you, net profits for the year are practically the same as last year, and we have continued the rate of dividend at 10 per cent per annum, which seemed to be fully justified, and we hope you will concur with us in this policy. The results obtained are gratifying to the Directors and we hope will meet with your approval.

GENERAL BUSINESS

Reports received from our Branches indicate that business generally is not yet good, except in the case of the automobile, but on the whole it is distinctly better. Commodity prices are up, production is up, retail sales are better, unemployment is less, and consequently a lesser amount needed for unemployment relief.

In British Columbia we find that the lumbering, fishing and mining industries are all enjoying better conditions. The Port of Vancouver continues to handle large quantities of grain and other commodities. The political situation there has been clarified, and the people, generally speaking, are in a happier and more hopeful frame of mind.

In the Prairie Provinces the wheat crop is still considerably below the average and prices unsatisfactory, but reports would indicate that the people are in a more hopeful frame of mind. The farmers are still in much distress, but they are deserving of praise for the courage they show in carrying on under very difficult circumstances. Some have been able to make a reduction in their debts, but it is still necessary for financial institutions to extend credit where justified. These conditions are likely to obtain until there is a greater diversification in the farmers' products. Owing to the quotas obtained on behalf of Canada by our Prime Minister, the outlook for the producers of wheat, bacon and other products is much more satisfactory to-day than it was a year ago, but Canada has not yet been able to take full advantage of the quota for bacon and other similar products to Great Britain owing to the scarcity of hog, but with prices it is to be hoped that the farmers will find it profitable to raise more hogs of the right type in order that they may take advantage of the opportunity afforded.

In Ontario we find conditions much more encouraging. The mining industry is prosperous, manufacturing on the whole has improved considerably, unemployment throughout the Province has been considerably reduced. The newspaper situation shows increased production, but prices altogether too low to render operations profitable. I repeat what I said before, that it seems most unfortunate that we have not taken advantage of the wonderful timber areas which nature has provided to obtain adequate returns from the products, most of which are being exported without any profitable return for either the newspaper mills or the country as a whole.

In the Province of Quebec and in the Maritime Provinces conditions are also distinctly better. Our Branches do not extend greatly into those territories, but all reports indicate a decided betterment both in volume of production and in prices obtained. The improvement in Canada's trade, both import and export, began in May last and continued during the succeeding months, the exports for the month of September being larger than for any month since May, 1931. Canada's trade balance for the first six months of this year shows an increase of over fifty million dollars. This is very encouraging.

EXCHANGE

We are looking with much interest to the development of the great experiment which our friends in the United States are making. We wish them well, but in the meantime it creates a condition of uncertainty in regard to the value of currency and considerable disturbance in carrying on business, and we hope the time will not be far distant when a more stable condition will prevail which will enable the world to carry on the exchange of industrial commodities without being subject to the abnormal conditions of exchange at present obtaining, but it is difficult to see how this can be accomplished until the great question of reparations has been satisfactorily dealt with and the Gold Standard restored in some form or other.

RAILWAY MATTERS

The people are still awaiting the appointment of a Commission to handle the railway affairs of the nation. There is no more important or more pressing problem in this country than our railways, and the Government-owned portion of which continues to be such a steady drain upon the resources of the people. It is to be hoped that the appointment of a Commission will soon be completed, with an adequate personnel for this important task, and thus a basis for greater co-operation and for reduction of unnecessary and wasteful expenditure, which will be fair to both railway systems, will be found.

BALANCED BUDGETS

There is evidence that individuals, corporations, Governments and municipalities are beginning to realize that they must keep their expenditures within their incomes in other words, balance their budgets. This is another hopeful indication, and while much still remains to be done along these lines, it is becoming generally recognized that taxes must be measured by the ability to pay and not by the capacity to spend.

CENTRAL BANK

The report of the Royal Commission

on Banking and Currency has just recently been issued. It contains a number of complimentary references as to the manner in which Canadian banks have carried on during a time of universal economic difficulty, and recently in the press Lord Macmillan and Sir Charles Stewart Addis have expressed themselves in very complimentary language as to the service rendered throughout Canada by Canadian Chartered Banks. The outstanding feature of the Report is the recommendation in favor of the establishment of a Central Bank in Canada, and that an inquiry be instituted by the Dominion Government to investigate the existing organizations for the provision of rural credit, with a view to the preparation of a scheme for the consideration of Parliament. I still maintain the position taken by Mr. Phipps and myself a year ago that a Central Bank is not requisite or desirable for Canada. I think this opinion is held by all of the other Canadian Chartered Banks. Canada's position in this regard was very clearly expressed by two of the Commissioners, Sir Thomas White and Mr. Beaudry Leman, both of whom are outstanding authorities in regard to Canadian banking, and both of whom dissented from the recommendation for the establishment of a Central Bank, and expressed most sound reasons for doing so. It is entirely to be hoped that the Prime Minister and his colleagues at Ottawa will give very careful consideration before putting into effect any measure which will disturb the financial situation in Canada at a time when we are beginning to emerge from many of our financial difficulties. Undoubtedly fresh disturbance would be caused by such a fundamental change in our financial system, and in my opinion it would hamper rather than help us in dealing with our financial problems. Any beneficial international finance and exchange would largely go to Great Britain, and while there is no more desirable tie-up of Canada in matters of international finance than with Great Britain, we should not be called upon to make the very considerable sacrifice which would be incurred if a Central Bank is established along the lines suggested in the Report.

Let me repeat what I have said on former occasions. We Canadians have a great heritage—let us prove worthy of it. We are passing through strange and troublous times. Let us keep up our courage and carry on our tasks from day to day and keep our heads clear and level. I am not prophesying anything as to the future, but conditions are certainly better than they were, and there are many definite signs of improvement. Let us avoid strange paths which may lead us to disaster.

I would once more like to express my high appreciation to the entire staff of the Bank for their continued interest and faithful service and for the efficient manner in which they have carried on their work.

MR. A. E. PHIPPS General Manager

The remarkable feature of the statement in your hands to-day is the similarity compared with a year ago in the amount of earnings and in the major items in the Balance Sheet. The profits are $1,204,038.70, just $1,300 less than the profits for the year ending October, 1932. After paying the dividend at the rate of 10 per cent per annum and making the usual provision for Guarantee Fund, Pension Fund and taxes, we have reserved $280,000 for contingencies and added $36,588 to the amount carried forward.

GENERAL STATEMENT

Notes of the Bank in circulation, $7,900,218, stand at practically the same figure as a year ago. The deposits not bearing interest, $2,148,927.38, are nearly five millions in excess of last year. The deposits bearing interest, $83,300,123.47, are approximately the same—just $27,000 less than they were at the end of 1932.

Advances under the Finance Act, $1,590,000, represent the Bank's share of a loan of $30,000,000 to the Dominion Government, which, as you may have noted in the newspapers some time ago, was arranged to be carried in this way. This is a new heading in our annual statement.

The other liabilities, such as accounts between Banks in Canada and abroad and Letters of Credit outstanding, are $4,794,014.47, an increase of some $800,000. The increase is in the amount of Letters of Credit outstanding.

The total liabilities to the public of $118,738,282.53 are $6,650,000 more than in 1932, the increase being largely in demand deposits, which are unusually high owing to there being a sum of three million dollars on deposit for redemption on November 1 of a bond issue domiciled with the Bank.

CASH ASSETS $22,366,607. Current coin, Dominion Government notes and United States and other foreign currencies total $9,983,497.15, compared with $9,379,343.44 a year ago. Deposits in the Central Gold Reserve, in the Circulation Fund, notes and cheques of other Banks, and balances due from other Banks in Canada and abroad, total $12,383,109.92, bringing our total cash assets up to $22,366,607.77, which equals 18.83 per cent of liabilities to the public.

INVESTMENTS $29,234,259. Dominion and Provincial securities not exceeding market value, $22,849,083.16, are $3,200,000 up; Canadian Municipal securities not exceeding market value, $6,209,500.51, are $500,000 up. Railway and other bonds, $165,800.57, show a decrease of $4,000. Total investments in Dominion, Provincial, Municipal and other bonds, $29,234,259.54, approximately $3,750,000 more than last year. Loans to Provincial Governments, $2,978,575.88, are about $200,000 down. Loans to Cities, Towns, Municipalities and School Districts at $6,540,192.46 are some $500,000 less. Call loans and securities of sufficient marketable value to cover, are $3,987,721.87, about $600,000 up.

QUICK ASSETS $68,996,000

Adding together the amounts I have mentioned in the preceding three sentences we get a total of $68,996,000, or 58 per cent of the Bank's liabilities to the public.

Current loans and discounts, after making full provision for bad and doubtful debts, stand at $57,465,120.06, almost exactly the same as last year. The other accounts also show an improved position. The Bank premises account stands at the same figure that it did a year ago, all expenditures in that connection having been charged to expense.

The total assets of the Bank are $124,491,012.26. A year ago they were $127,792,665.88.

BRANCHES

The Branches of the Bank now total 199. We have during the past year closed twelve branches and seven sub-offices.

SHAREHOLDERS

The shareholders of the Bank total 2,645, compared with 2,640 a year ago. The shares held by the residents of the United States number 8,865, divided amongst 348 shareholders, compared with 8,976 shares and 360 shareholders last year.

STAFF

With the reduction in Branches there has been a corresponding reduction in the number of staff, the total being now 1,380, compared with 1,460 a year ago.

CENTRAL BANK

In a press cable from London, November 15, Lord Macmillan is reported as saying "nothing impressed Sir Charles Addis and myself more than the high character, sense of responsibility and integrity of the bankers of Canada." I think that without undue vanity I may presume to agree with these views expressed by Lord Macmillan, for whose ability and high sense of public duty I have the greatest regard, and I am sure we all appreciate very much his coming to Canada and working as hard and untiringly as he undoubtedly did to produce a very exhaustive and very accurate report in a very short time. As you know, the Commission was not unanimous, the two Commissioners forming the dissenting minority consisting of a very highly trained and experienced Canadian banker and one of Canada's most successful former Ministers of Finance. As a banker of over forty years' experience, I believe that these two experienced Canadian financial men are more likely to be correct in matters concerning Canadian finance than even the very distinguished gentlemen who came to their conclusions after an examination of the Canadian situation lasting approximately two months. I am still of the opinion that the expense and disturbance of creating a Central Bank at this time is unnecessary, and might even be mischievous, and that certainly anything of the kind should be done only after the most careful and exhaustive study by our Government, who I think, would be well advised to pay more attention to the views expressed by the Canadian Bankers' Association before the Commission, and consult freely with the Canadian bankers, who have at heart nothing but the welfare of this Dominion.

On Monday night we had the benefit of listening to a broadcast from Ottawa. There was nothing brought out with reference to the functions of a central bank which in my mind could not be performed as well, or better, and certainly much more cheaply, by direct Government action, and making use of the banking facilities which the country already has. One of the headlines of the address was the issuing of currency against a gold backing of 25 per cent, thereby making available for issue approximately one hundred million dollars more Dominion of Canada notes. As to the soundness of this proposal, I have nothing to say as yet, but a Central Bank is not necessary to bring about such a change in the country's note issue—an amendment to the Dominion Notes Act which could be put through Parliament in about half an hour would bring about the same result.

The President and myself both stress very strongly our objections to a Central Bank, but I don't want the shareholders to get the idea that it is because we fear the competition of a Central Bank. Our objection is that we believe it is unnecessary, and that the present time is inopportune to interfere with the banking structure of Canada. The Canadian Banks have always been able to adjust themselves to circumstances, and we feel that if a Central Bank is established we will be able to adjust ourselves to the new conditions that are brought about.

I have thought it well to add these few words because since the publication of the report on Banking and Currency there appears to have been a marked increase in the sale of all Bank shares, with a corresponding decline in prices, and we don't like to see our shareholders sacrificing their investment unnecessarily.

EMERGING FROM DEPRESSION

In spite of the fact that money conditions are still much disturbed, particularly in the United States of America, I believe that Canada and the rest of the world is slowly emerging from what has been termed the great depression. It is hard to definitely describe the improvement, but a comparison of the condition of business, unemployment, commodity prices, bond and stock values, and other indicators, with a year ago makes the improvement at once apparent, and as we go from day to day we see similar signs. For instance, within a week we have been told in the press that the national revenue for October showed an increase of $2,560,000 compared with a year ago; that Canadian exports for October were greatly increased over a year ago, and reached the highest point since late in 1930; that Copper production has risen over September by 8.7 per cent, and that International Nickel Company's profits have doubled, totaling the huge sum of $3,770,000 for the third quarter ending September; that Gold production in October in Ontario totalled $3,450,000, not taking the premium into account, which was an improvement over October of last year and over September of this year. The production of our mines from month to month makes a very substantial addition to our national wealth. Among the features that remain unsatisfactory may be mentioned the depressed condition of all branches of agriculture, construction work of all kinds, which means the production of lumber, steel and other material, and the continued unsatisfactory condition of our Railways.

FORECAST

In our own instance the moderate increase in our total assets and the fact that we have been able to earn as much as we did in 1932 and put a little to one side for contingencies is a fulfilment of my closing remarks last year that the Bank could look confidently toward the future, and I hope that if and when I meet you again next year I will be able to present still more substantial evidence of the correctness of that forecast.

BRINGS SPIRITUAL TONIC FOR DEFEATED WOMEN

New Wardrobe Would Give Unemployed Girl Pride and Courage to Face the World

By HELEN WELSHIMER. IF SOMEBODY wanted to do something nice for jobless, homeless women it could be arranged by establishing an endowment which would supply them with hats and powder.

For there is nothing that destroys a woman's pride like the knowledge that her hat resembles one of the inmates of a lunatic asylum. Yes, clothes make the woman, pretty much. Beauty may be only skin deep but it is the surface view that gets the first glance.

The disappointed, weary women who have powers to go would hold their heads so much more proudly if those heads were smartly coiffured and carried intriguing hats. They lose their morale when they lose their sense of charm. Food and shelter they need, of course. It is every woman's right to have hearthfire and walls to shut away the rain. But women need more than that.

If somebody would give them new complexions and wardrobes so they wouldn't be afraid to face themselves in the mirror—they would stop looking into it darkly—they would prove that artful interest is not a publicity fake. They could step through the looking glass and find a new world on the other side.

An endowment for providing jobless women with weapons with which to obtain jobs is worthwhile. Much more worthwhile than erecting drinking fountains on public squares.

North Vancouver, Nov. 28.—On Saturday in the North Vancouver Police Court G. F. Savage, of Vancouver, will face a charge of having in his possession alcoholic spirits unlawfully imported into Canada. The liquor, consisting of brandy and rum, allegedly taken off the Italian M. S. Ete on Saturday morning at the Midland Pacific Elevator Dock, is alleged to have been found on the person of the accused and in his automobile, which was parked nearby. The seizure was made by Detective Constable J. Yendall of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

When Crowd Broke Into California Jail and Seized Abductors

The remarkable picture above was taken, while the mob was breaking down the door of the jail at San Jose, Cal. Sunday evening shortly before Thomas H. Thurmond and John M. Holmes, self-confessed kidnap-slayers of Brooks Hart, were forcibly taken from the guards, led out and hanged on a tree. While there was a crowd of 6,000 in the vicinity of the jail, the crowd which actually broke into the jail numbered about 100. The men used a length of heavy iron pipe as a battering ram. Newspaper reporters were on hand. Two may be seen in the telephone booth on the left and another who was photographed as he himself was setting off a flash and taking a photo. The above picture was rushed from San Jose to The Times by the NEA service.

MANCHURIANS HAVE NEW BANK

Hon. I. Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada, Addresses Vancouver Audience

Canadian Press. Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Outstanding achievement of the Manchukuo government has been the establishment of a sound financial policy and the formation of a central bank, declared Hon. Iyemasa Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada, to-day, in addressing a luncheon meeting here.

The minister referred to his visit to Manchuria and China shortly before the recent termination of his leave across the Pacific. He stated the new state of Manchukuo was making sound and steady progress, and the people in Manchuria actually saw and appreciated the great reforms and improvements going on around them.

"The government introduced the budget system, which never existed under the old regime," Mr. Tokugawa said. "The central bank was established as early as June of last year and it absorbed four existing banking institutions whose inconvertible notes of many different kinds were in circulation at hopelessly depreciated rates."

"Instead of repudiating the worthless paper money, the central bank redeemed it by issuing new notes based on a reserve fund of which the minimum was fixed by law."

Mr. Tokugawa referred to other works of the new Manchukuo government, stressing the establishment of law and order in Manchuria. A larger railway system was being constructed and motor roads being built with great rapidity, he said.

"Our relations with your neighbors in the south continue to be friendly," the minister continued. "I am struck that persistent, harmful propaganda looking to the jeopardizing of these happy relations is going on in some other parts of the world and, indeed, it is feared, even in countries concerned themselves." He added, however, that all thinking men in Japan were most anxious to maintain and consolidate the goodwill which united that country and the United States.

"Our relations with the Soviet Union remain normal," he said. "We have no desire nor intention whatever to seek any trouble with that country, but are anxious to settle, as soon as possible, various practical questions pending between the two countries and thus con-

TRUCK MAN IS HURT IN CRASH

Canadian Press. Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Sam Byers, West Fifth Avenue, swamper on a Vancouver Brewery Ltd. truck, was seriously injured in an unusual accident in the fog on Burrard Bridge at 6.30 o'clock this morning.

As the truck on which Byers was riding was feeling its way across the bridge in the dense mist, it collided with a car directly in front. Another car crashed into the rear of the truck. Byers descended from his truck to determine the amount of damage, when another automobile approached and Byers was crushed between the two vehicles. His fingers were badly smashed and his back seriously injured. He was removed to St. Paul's Hospital, where it may be found necessary to amputate several of his fingers.

Nearly twenty northbound automobiles were tied up on the bridge for almost half an hour as a result of the accident.
